Portfolio comment

Global markets ended the quarter on a negative note with the MSCI World posting a 0.3% loss. This did, however, mask rather volatile swings particularly at the end of the quarter, with Greece's potential exit from the European Union dominating headlines. Greece became the first developed nation to default on a debt payment as agreement could not be reached between Greek leaders and the Troika. Both Japan and the UK posted 3.0% gains with Europe returning 0.7% and the US a rather muted at 0.3% gain

Global bonds fell 2.9% as renewed speculation on potential US rate hikes and the risk of the Greek contagion spreading to peripheral similarly indebted nations was feared. This marks the 4th consecutive quarter of decline for the Citigroup World Global Bond Index.

Commodity markets were up over the quarter, driven by higher agricultural prices amid reports of smaller stockpiles, capping three consecutive quarters of losses.

The fund remains conservatively managed with the anticipation of continued volatility amid expectations for continued accommodative central bank policies and uncertainty around US rates being hiked and a stronger dollar.
